BAUER SENDS ANNIVERSARY MESSAGE

Anthemios Co-Founder Well Pleased With Progress of Fraternity.

As I reflect on these past fifteen years of history making in Alpha Rho Chi, I feel a sincere appreciation and satisfaction. The ideals, the visions, the dreams held by Brother Chandler C. Colagen and myself have been realized in the greatest measure. The foundation which we laid for the structure of the Fraternity has been well built upon, and today we see a splendid organization, perhaps without a peer among the fraternities in America.

We have been most fortunate in the courageous and efficient leadership which our fraternity has enjoyed. With a continuance of such administration, together with loyal, hearty co-operation of the Chapters, the example and achievement of the individual members, we can contemplate only expansion and prosperity.

We must not however, feel content to rest upon our present laurels. We must continue in a never-remitting manner the arduous work of these fifteen years of progress, to the end that Alpha Rho Chi will be an organization of pre-eminence, your gift to posterity.

On this joyous Founders' Day, I extend to each one of you my heartiest good wishes.

Fraternally yours,
Leo M. Bauer.

DEMETRIOS GIVEN ORIGINAL ILLUSTRATIONS

Through the courtesy of the editor of the Good Housekeeping Magazine, W. F. Bigelow, who, by the way, is a brother-in-law of Mother Uley, the chapter was presented with four original illustrations. They were the works of the following artists: James Montgomery Flagg, Charles Mitchell, F. C. Cook, and W. G. Ratterman. These drawings are of real value and the chapter proudly displays them at the house. They are executed in charcoal, water color, and oil. The Fine Arts Department of Ohio State University displayed them for over a week in its building.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF ALPHA RHO CHI

Cass Gilbert Discusses Our Influence Upon Architecture.

To the Members of Alpha Rho Chi:

It has been suggested that I should send a message to you through the Founders' Day issue of The Archi, and I am glad to respond to this request, for it gives me an opportunity to call attention to certain responsibilities that rest upon us.

One cannot achieve honor or reputation without corresponding responsibility. Every honor that comes to a man is in a sense a mortgage on his future activity as well as a recognition of his past achievement. For in the nature of things he must endeavor to live up to the reasonable expectation of those who have recognized the merit of his action.

Without attempting to analyze or define what success may be, how it may be achieved or whether it is worth while, I would say that any measure of success carries with it a measure of responsibility, and if we fail in the fulfillment of this responsibility we lessen the measure of our success and, more than that, we lower the standard of performance and expectation on the part of others.

The greatest claim that Alpha Rho Chi can have upon its members and upon the world at large is the maintenance of high standards and the sense of responsibility in maintaining those standards.

We must inculcate ideals and have the courage to maintain them, not only in our youth but all through our lives.

Cynicism has no part in the make-up of a creative artist or in the character of any one who pretends to do constructive work.

We must inspire young students to think as well as to work and to seek higher culture and wider information so that the outcome of their training will be creditable to themselves and useful to the nation.

The art of a people is one of the surest signs of its civilization; it has a great power in influencing people in many ways. This was notably shown at the time of the great war when the power of the poster design by the artist raised billions of money, enlisted millions of men and women in the great cause and finally helped to assure the rigors of the conflict and relieve the suffering of millions whose substance had been destroyed. It might almost be said that the power of the artist through illustrations in magazines, newspapers and posters exceeded all other influences at that time.

Architecture as an art, however small may be a building, or however large, is in its way a potent influence on the culture of the masses. Ostentation, trickery, insincerity and frivolity should have no part in the architecture of an intelligent people, for these things cannot last and insofar as they exist momentarily they are evidences of bad taste and leave their influence upon our type of people, who are very imitative as well as creative and who constantly seek new things.

If our influence upon the architecture of our time is fine and pure and noble it will be reflected in the development of our country. If it is ugly, sensual and debased its influence for evil is equally powerful and dangerous.

Architecture is a Fine Art and must be treated as such.

Architects in the true sense are not only constructors but artists, and sometimes I think that the constructor who builds simply, honestly and sincerely is more of an artist than the designer who works with an uncontrolled imagination and an untrained mind.

The artist, like the poet, blazes the trail of human thought and human endeavor and inevitably records in the last analysis and in the large average the character of the age in which he lives. Let us all then, while we have our feet upon the ground, have a full sense of our responsibility to the past, for it has taught us, to the present, for it sustains us, and to the future, for we help to mould it, and keep our standards high.

Cass Gilbert, Master Architect.

NEW SEALS NOW IN USE

On page one in the upper left hand corner you will find the great seal of the Fraternity now in use by the Grand Council. In upper right hand corner is the Chapter seal recommended to be used by Chapters. Official design may be obtained upon application to the G. C. only.
PROFESSIONAL INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCES

First Plenary Session Assembled in New York.

The Professional Interfraternity Conference preparatory conference was held at Washington, D.C., March 2 and 3, 1928. The plenary session was held at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, on November 30 and December 1, 1928. Thirty national professional fraternities, represented by some fifty men, responded to roll call.

Alpha Rho Chi was represented at this session by J. S. Butler, Sigma Nu Phi (Law), President; Dr. Ralph W. Elliott, Phi Rho Sigma (Medicine), Vice-President; Dr. Frank H. Kramer, Kappa Phi Kappa (Education), Secretary-Treasurer; Dr. Stoudt Jordan, Alpha Chi Sigma (Chemistry), and Dr. Alfred P. Lee, Psi Omega (Denistry), Executive Committee.

Nine fraternities had already ratified the constitution. It was agreed by the Conference that any professional fraternity should be eligible to 'Charter' Members, which meets the requirements of the Constitution and By-Laws drafted by the Preparatory Conference, with one amendment in respect to the qualifications of the charter members designed to ensure higher standards through prohibiting inter-election between fraternities within the same category.

Charter Membership.

The officers elected for the coming year were J. A. Phillips, Anth. '23, Grand Lecturer, and A. K. Pickett, Anth. '23. Alpha Rho Chi was the only architectural fraternity represented.

The chief work of the meeting consisted in the adoption of the tentative Constitution and By-Laws drafted by the Preparatory Conference, with one amendment in respect to the qualifications of the charter members designed to ensure higher standards through prohibiting inter-election between fraternities within the same category.

Visitation Officer Duties.

The Interfraternity Conference which was in session at Hotel Pennsylvania on the same dates sent greetings to the Professional Interfraternity group. The Women's Professional Pan-Hellenic Association was also holding its annual meeting on the same date in the building and was invited to hear any of the discussions it might desire. Mrs. Estelle Thorpe Russell, of Cleveland, President of the Association, was introduced and assured of the welcome of the Professional Conference.

Mr. Cecil J. Wilkinson, National Secretary of Phi Gamma Delta, gave an address on the duties of a visiting officer, and concluded with an informal recommendation that the Professional Conference use its influence to discourage the formation and increasing publicity given to groups in no way connected with institutions of higher learning which assume Greek letter names without distinguishing themselves from legitimate college fraternities.

Program For Next Convention.

Methods to be adopted for providing a real service to member fraternities were discussed, and it was agreed that programs for future annual meetings should be prepared carefully in advance, professional chapters being always under the direction of the architect, of course. He has used me as his assistant in the selection of materials with the intention of getting better cooperation between them. My training in the Architectural School at Harvard was \v with the prospect in view of decorating architecture, and it now is bearing fruit."

JOHN F. HELM HAS TWO ETCHINGS ACCEPTED

Paenios Instructor Has Had Etchings in Six National Exhibits This Winter.

Last February the National Arts Club of New York City accepted two etchings by Prof. John F. Helm, Jr., Pae. Faculty, of the department of architecture at K. S. A. C. Brother Helm has had etchings in six national exhibitions this winter.

Three have been shown in New York, by the Brooklyn Society of Etchers, the National Academy of Design, and the National Arts Club. The Washington Water Color Club has shown both etchings and water colors. The Philadelphia Art Alliance now has "Saplings in Winter" and "On Keats Road" in the Circulating Picture Club, a unique exhibition which "travels" from one home to another among members of the club. "Saplings in Winter", which pictures county near Manhattan, has been honored by the juries of four of these art organizations, including the National Arts Club. "Montreuil-sur-Iller" is the other of the two dry point etchings now on display at this club. It was made from a water color study which was shown in the International Water Color Exhibition at the Chicago Art Institute last spring.

MOORMAN'S FIRM MOVES TO MINNEAPOLIS

Frank S. Moorman, 16, 22, Circulation Manager of The Archi, is a member of the firm of A. Moorman and Company at St. Paul, which is moving its offices to 813 First National Bank building in Minneapolis the first of April. The company is moving because its work is the construction of bank buildings only, and because Minneapolis is the Federal Reserve headquarters for the Northwest. The owners are giving A. Moorman and Company a two-page spread in a Sunday rotogravure section in April. The Moormans' home will remain St. Paul. Moorman writes, "I still insist that St. Paul is O. K., especially since this city passed a $16,000,000 bond issue recently. St. Paul has a good future, and will make Minneapolis step to retain its laurels."
HELD YEARLY IN COLUMBUS

Ditchy, Newcomb, Bauer, Rowland, Bragdon, and Waring, Past Speakers.

The Demetrios alumni and active men have a record for Founders' Day banquet celebration in the past, about which they are justly proud to boast. These annual banquets started back in 1921 (perhaps the old timer would recount one or two more before the war, but that's before our time so we aren't qualified to say). At this banquet, which was sponsored by the active chapter, Claire W. Ditchy, Ikt. '15, Past Worthy Grand Architect of the fraternity, was imported from Detroit and gave a talk on "Foundations and Principles of Alpha Rho Chi." Jack Wells, '14, came down from Cleveland to do the toastmaster duties. This first banquet was held at the old Hartman Hotel.

The banquet in 1922 under the auspices of the active chapter was held at the Deshler Hotel. In 1923 Professor Rexford Newcomb, Anthelmios Honoray and at that time Grand Lecturer, was the guest speaker. Walter Taylor, '21, took care of Master of Ceremonies job. This was the first year that a special cut for our program was made, and the honor of first place in this job was given to C. D. Badgeley, '23. This banquet was held at the Chittendens.

Attractive Engraved Programs.

1924 brought Leo Michael Bauer, Anthelmios, '14, co-founder and first W. G. A., down from Detroit. And, my, how that man can speak! Well, ask anyone who was there. Clyde T. Oakey, '13, held the center chair at the banquet table at the Chittendens. This was the first year for the handling of the banquet by the alumni organization, and each year since it has continued in that capacity.

Wirt Rowland, Iktonos Honorary, honored us in 1925 as guest speaker, and what a fine fellow he is. We suggest you active members get him to play a few of the classics on your piano at the chapter house, for he not only plays well but will give a clear concise synopsis of the selection that will make the present day radio announcers for the Chicago Opera seem small town orators.

To get back to the banquet, which was held at Hotel Fort Hayes, Ralph Fanning, Anthelmios Honorary, was toastmaster. We dedicated the banquet to Fly. The program was especially attractive, designed by Paul Wood, '23, in old English script, the notation on program before the speakers' names reading as follows: 'The Evening imposingly embellished with immortal oratory by ye Brothers... of the Learned... Mere Student... Ye Grad... etc.'

CO-FOUNDER AND FIRST WORTHY GRAND ARCHITECT

Leo Michael Bauer, Anthelmios.

Claude Bragdon Honor Guest.

In 1926 Claude Bragdon, noted architect, appeared in Columbus for an Educational Conference and honored us by his presence at the banquet. He gave a most interesting talk on stage scenery design. Wegner, '21, rode the rods from Cleveland to deliver the funny stories before introducing each speaker.

Tousley, Mnesicles, past Arch Editor, was invited and had his name engraved on the 1927 program, but due to unforeseen business was unable to be there. Prof. J. Taylor, of the English department, gave a most interesting discussion on his recent trip to Europe. Paul Wood, '23, was the toastmaster, and the banquet was given in honor of Judge Hughes, Demetrios Honorary, just then recently initiated, and Roger Waring, an Iktonos charter member who had previously been voted membership into the fraternity but had never taken the formal ritual work. The Demetrios active boys had just initiated him that afternoon.

French Fried Onions H. C.

This banquet was held at the Chitten- den and the menu almost put an end to all future banquets. It seems the boys were tired of the same menu each year, and were yelling for new diet. Therefore we started out with assorted appetizers. This hotel wasn't so hot on that particular thing, and the result was black fish eggs on plain white bread. Then came french fried onions, and last a chocolate eclair done in maroon and navy blue, maroon and navy blue look line on ribbons and the like, but not so grand as on an eclair combination.

At our last year's banquet Rabbi Jacob Tarshish, Columbus, gave a most interesting and inspiring talk. Ely was the head man, and Kennedy raked up a little entertainment between courses in the way of a blues singer. (Maybe she tickled the chins of a few of the Honoraries, thus turning them from white to red men. But we would never tell that.)

Renick Begs for Reservation.

Since the alumni have been handling this annual banquet, the active chapter and pledges have been taxed only for the price we had to pay per plate, and no extra charge for promotion of banquet, as all alumni are assessed. We have never had less than fifty at any banquet, and the high mark was sixty-seven, with at least ten out-of-town alumni every year. The popularity of this traditional affair can well be expressed in the words of Duke Renick's letter of Feb. 20, 1929, in which he asks for a place all spiked down and marked off for him this year. Almost two months before.

CHANGES TAKE PLACE IN MICHIGAN SCHOOL

C. T. Miller, Iktonos.

Perhaps some of our alumni are unaware of the changes which have taken place in the Architectural School. We have a fine new building consisting of two wings, one containing three drafting rooms and a freehand drawing room, each room occupying an entire floor of the wing. The other wing contains class rooms, executive offices, a museum, exhibition halls, and a library which rivals in design the excellence of the collection of rare books therein.

Surely when drawing your attention to our new building, we must not fail to tell of the charming formal garden nestled between the wings. The effect is simply incomparable with the old quarters in that ancient wreck, the "Parthenon", where we used to follow the elusive shadow of beauty. One can see at a glance that here is a building which houses beauty, efficiency, and originality, and which fosters their growth in the minds of the students.

It is rumored in a short while we will not be a department of the College of Engineering, but that we shall be a separate school, with Brother Professor Lorch as Dean of the College of Architecture. Brother Lorch is in a large measure responsible for the growth of our school and for the new building.

Now is the time to send in your reservation for the Founders' Day Banquet to your Active or Alumni Chapter.
NOTES AND COMMENTS

Hell Week

Penalties recently inflicted on two of our chapters for alleged violations of University rules governing initiations bring this subject again to our attention.

Although it is apparent that in both of the cases referred to, the violations were of a technical rather than a serious nature, it still appears that our Fraternity should prepare a set statement of its stand on the subject of informal initiations, both for its own government and for the benefit of University authorities and the public at large.

It is earnestly recommended, therefore, to each chapter that it begin at once a study of this subject so that the delegates to the fifteenth convention can be prepared to discuss this matter intelligently and pass on whatever legislation is necessary for the good of the Fraternity.

The fraternities as national organizations and the colleges are both working to the same end—the production and development of strong, well rounded citizens.

—Dean Edward E. Nicholson, Beta Theta Phi,
University of Minnesota.

Men of Honor Pay Their Debts

Men of Honor pay their honest debts; others are not worthy to bear the name or wear the badge of an honorable brotherhood. Theta Chi has definitely joined those fraternities which are making their members realize that the fraternal relationship is a two-fold proposition and that failure of the individual to live up to his obligations is just grounds for the severance of the fraternal bond. Through its news publication, The Confidential News, Theta Chi Fraternity told of the expulsion of an alumnus of one of the older chapters because he refused to pay the debts he owed his active chapter. Alumni of the chapter protested, but when they were given the facts in the case, they agreed that expulsion was deserved. The man is no longer a Theta Chi.

The action of the Grand Chapter can be justified only if the same penalty is enforced against every other man who is guilty of "conduct inconsistent with the character and deportment of one deemed worthy to wear the badge of an honorable member of the Theta Chi fraternity."

That is the only fair policy.—The Rattle of Theta Chi.

Back to the Altar

I wonder if, with this great organization of ours, this thing which we may justly picture—every one of our fraternities as a great soul—it can be possible that we haven't an altar? I am thinking of the things that were in the hearts of the men who founded every one of our fraternities. If we can take the idealism that is in every college fraternity back to the innermost shrines and say to the boys, "Here is the thing our fraternity stands for," then we don't have to discuss rushing rules, deferring pledges, or deferred initiation; we won't have to discuss scholarship, finances, or any of the other questions. But we must then go back and stay at the altar long enough to get the real idea of the fraternity.—Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, Beta Theta Phi.

"My College Home"

My fraternity is my college home—never a mere political organization to put me in line for anything but life. It is sacred. Its purpose in relation to me is to make me a bigger and better man. Therefore, in return, I owe at the very least, this much: first to be a man myself; second, to go even so far as to make great sacrifice, if necessary, to get the right men in and keep the wrong men out; and third, to do my part always to see that the social and intellectual and moral life of the Fraternity is kept to the high level of the ritual.

—H. G. Smith of Lambda Chi, Alpha.
The Editor’s Mail Box

Lester H. Christen, Anth. ’18, has recovered from his illness and is again working for the Virginia Steel Co., Richmond, Va. Christen will probably visit North Carolina State College this spring to confer with members of Delta Alpha Sigma regarding the petition which they presented at the convention in Texas.

We noticed in the last issue of “The Make-Up,” a publication for the Ohio and West Virginia Inspection Bureaus, a four-page article by Glen W. Knott, Dem. ’20. Glen urges close cooperation of the architectural profession and the Bureau.

Bank Returns to Salt Lake City.

Lionel C. Banks, Anth. ’24, has left California for his home town, Salt Lake City, Utah, and has opened his own office for the practice of architecture in the Boyd Park building there. He said he was informed that he couldn’t be in Los Angeles for the Founders’ Day Banquet this year, as last year’s banquet was a never-to-be-forgotten event.

A notice in the local home town paper gives the information that a son, Charles Myron, was born on Feb. 22, at the home of Max Worthley, Dem. ’27, in Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Worthley was Georgiana Moore before her marriage to Max.

Budgeley in Africa

John McDonald Ramey, Mnesicles ’28, has a sad tale in that he spent the entire summer fishing and vacationing in northern Minnesota after graduating in June. Ramey finally decided he had enough of that and started to work last October with Whitney, a civil engineer, doing architectural business in Milwaukee.

A late Christmas greeting reached us from the old roommate, Clarence D. Ramey, Anth. ’24. Budge was spending Christmas in Morocco with his wife, Mrs. E. C. Gill Hall, of Barnard College, New York City. Budge is now near the end of his three-year stay at the American Academy at Rome. His address is Villa Sforza, Monte Gianicolo, Rome, Italy.

Drama or Architecture?

Hermon W. Lovejoy, Dem. Ex. ’23, another roommate and the first part of the original “Spoof and Goof” team, reports from Madison, Conn., where he is back on the stage again. Lovey has been playing in “The Ivory Door,” “La Gringa,” “Revolt,” “The Dragon” and “A Trip to Scarborough.” Some of the above plays didn’t get the official New York standing, but locally would push a pencil for some well known architect until the call of the drama became too strong again.

We heard indirectly that Volney A. Chappell, Proconsul ’23, is superintendent of the new Pierce Hall for Granger and Bollenbacher, Architects, at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

Boys Together at Austin

Malcolm C. Simons, Iktinos ’14, in answer to our letter requesting an outline of the Alumnus chapter plans for Founders’ Day Banquet, said it would be impossible for the alumni to have a banquet in San Antonio because of wide areas over which most of the men in Texas are scattered, but he is issuing notices that all alumni who can join in with the active boys at Austin. Simons is a member of the firm of Seutter and Simons, Architects, and may be addressed at 601 Builders Exchange building, San Antonio, Texas.

Ben Renick, Dem. ’23, who has been in the highway contracting game with his Dad around Steuben, Ohio, writes that “paving hasn’t been what it should be, but the State Highway Department has been helping me out so I don’t get put in the jug for non-payment of debts.”

Going to New York?

Arthur D. Pickelt, Anth. ’23, urges that all members coming into New York get in touch with the New York Alumni chapter as they maintain a file of all New York members and might be of some assistance in finding jobs quickly.

Work Us Whooppee

Emory M. Searcy, Anth. ’28, writes from Peoria, where he is a construction superintendent for Hewitt, Emerson & Gregg. Em is originally from Indianapolis. He is a member of A. S. T. M., A. S. C. E., and Gargoyle. Another chap we heard from in the same mail was Elton K. Crowell, Ex ’25, Mnesicles.

STRENGTHENING THE ARCH

By the Old Timer

A comparison of the Fraternity of fifteen years ago with the Fraternity we have today gives us reason indeed for pride and mutual congratulations.

Yet a matter of vastly more importance, at least so it seems to the Old Timer, is what are we doing to bring about equal progress in the next similar period of years. Is each active member doing everything he can to make his chapter a strong, healthy brotherhood of which the Fraternity is proud?

Is each alumni giving the support he should to his chapter, to his alumni association, to The Arch, and to the Fraternity?

Some Fraternity officers have some weak spots which need strengthening and a need for further expansion is beginning to be felt.

The constant effort of each member is necessary to insure the strength and to prevent the failure of the arch of Alpha Rho Chi.

Elton is still selling Singer sewing machines in Minneapolis and is sales manager of the Franklin avenue shop. The Crowells have no children to report.

From Bruce R. Church, Mnesicles, ’28, we confirm the rumor that he is working in Madison, Wis., with Law, Law & Potter, the firm Bro. Paul E. Nystrom, Mnesicles, ’24, is with. Speaking of Mnesicles we learn that Edward O. Hollen, ’23, is back in New York after a visit to Europe.

It is New York and Delano and Aldrich that hold the attractions for Kendall L. Gregory, Kallikrates, ’22, who reports that he is still single and is living at the University of Virginia Club in New York and “there is nothing more eventful in my life to communicate than the routine of learning the profession from experience in offices with the inconsequential amusements and occasional whooppee possible on a draftsman salary while trying to save for doing.”

Speaking of whooppee, Bro. and Mrs. Clifton E. Jones (nee Dorothy C. Putnam, June 16, 1925) are celebrating the arrival of their daughter, Nancy Ella on May 1, 1929. Congratulations to Cliff and the better half.

Kallikrates Boys Busy

Among others that we have heard from late are some of the Kallikrates brothers. W. Merle Brown, ’26, for example is no longer at High Point, N.C., but has transferred himself to Winston-Salem, N.C., where he is employed by Northrup & O’Brien, architects, as a draftsman. Brownie is still single.

Paul C. Edmunds, Ex ’26, and Godwin W. Draper, Ex ‘26, both of Kallikrates are in New York drafting. Paul neglected to say who he was with, but Judge is with Delano & Aldrich. The judge advises that due to a change in the course he did not get his degree in ’26 when he left school. Before leaving school he spent a good deal of time in the superintending of the Washington, D.C., working on the triangle development for Washington. He is now working in New York on the same project.

Another Kallikrates man we heard from recently was Ralph G. Gulley, ’26, who wrote from Cambridge, Mass., where he is attending Harvard and working for a master’s degree. Incidentally his communication advising that he had met Kenneth A. W. Backstrom, Mnesicles ’27, arrived in the same mail with one from Kenny advising that he too was in Cambridge. Ditto Gulley spent the summer at Ecole des Beaux Arts at Fontainbeau; that is, two months of it and one traveling thru Normandy and Brittany sketching. The old boy is on a year’s leave of absence from Georgia Tech.

Gang Gathers In K. C.

O. D. Lantz, Paeonios, writes from Kansas City; in part he says: “We have quite a group of Paeonios men in K. C., ten I believe, five are married and another falling fast. We have one man, (Continued on Page 8)
THE CHAPTERS

ANTHEMIOIS—ILLINOIS
J. B. Routh, Correspondent

Here 'tis, boys. The officers for the first semester were so darned good that we up and elect all of them for another semester.

J. B. Routh, '29, returned to the University for the second semester, and was duly sworn in as Librarian and Historian. Previously Routh had been working in Arkansas as a construction engineer for Lester J. N. Kelker, '14, a charter member of Iktinos chapter. Kelker is one of Arkansas foremost bridge contractors, and at present is building a half-million dollar bridge over the Red River.

February initiation went off well under the hand of Spann and Ganschmitz.

Oh, you, Andronicus, we received a card from Prof. Newcomb telling us about his visit with you boys. Come on down, don't try to keep him.

"Bobby" Mitchell, '28, dropped in on us along about the middle of last month to take the second preliminary for the Paris Prize. Closer he hung away on the piano so much that we have forgotten how to start the orthophonie.

Oh yes, there was a riot on the second floor the other night, and the South sure won that one. Even "Ox" Bowen made "Indiana" Shaffer catch a rabbit. But "Texas" took advantage of said George. You see Bowen weighs down near 180 pounds and il's ole George weighs only 200. Boy friend, 'twas worth seen.

Hall! Were going to start a gang of traditions around here real soon to begin the first year in our new house. You'll hear from them later.

Our formal dinner dance will be given April 13th at the chapter house. The chaperones: Prof.; Prof. and Mrs. L. H. Provine, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Palmer, Prof. and Mrs. T. E. O'Donnell, '13, and Prof. and Mrs. Frank M. Lescher. All of you members and pledges, far and near, are invited, but please let us know if you are coming so we can prepare the water bucket above said front entrance. Come one, come all, 'twill be a pleasure to greet you.

DEMETRIOIS—OHIO STATE
R. M. Larimer, Correspondent

Demetrios Chapter held its winter election Feb. 4, 1929. W. R. King was re-elected W. A.; W. S. Goodl. W. A.; Ralph Harmon, W. E., succeeding Leroy Standle, who graduates this month; Paul Shisler was re-elected W. S.; and J. M. Koch, Superintendent.

On Feb. 18th the alumni gave a real party at the chapter house for the actives and pledges. More than twenty alumni were present and a great time was had by all.

Demetrios Chapter extends its symnoon luncheons of the chapter. We hope soon to throw a dinner some evening and get the gang all together again.

We have gained a new member in the person of Ruben J. Pfeifer, Anthémis. 24. Rube is the architect for Donaldson and Company, a large contracting firm of Lebanon, Indiana, which is now developing an exclusive subdivision there, for which Pfeifer is turning out some mighty sweet houses. At one of our future meetings he is going to tell us all about his trip to Paris and other heathen countries. confidentially, that is.

Alusk, Anthémis Ex '30, resided in our city several months this winter, working at various and sundry jobs. At present he is selling fraternity jewelry for an Indianapolis firm, traveling over the entire Mid-West and a portion of Rhode Island. "Watch for this man! He means money to you."

Lot Green, our portly president, has changed jobs, and is working for Burns & James, a firm of architects having offices across the hall from the Camp Fire Girls. Our detectives report that tea and iced cakes are served in the afternoons, but we haven't been able yet to locate Mr. Green to verify this report.

This same gentleman and ye humble author have been seen several nights a week sneaking into other alumni chapters, games to be played on wood, chinker or sawdust courts at the discretion of the contestants.

NEW PLEDGES

Not until W. G. E. receives Form E-1 directory card for the fraternity directory from the active chapter does a man's name appear in this, the official list of the Grand Council.
