Members of Demetrios, like others of our chapters, have been active in the "Block O" cheering and card section at football games in Ohio Stadium. This year the project has been expanded by the addition of a separate Freshman Section and now the 82,000 spectators can see the same card manipulations in Sections 1 and 2 at the closed end of the Stadium as is regularly visible in Section 13 on the Ohio State side. The Freshman Section is designed for 640 participants with 100 standby reserves. The Section on the side contains 736 upper-class students and has a reserve of 200 extras. Ray Yanscik is the executive administrator of this year’s operation. Ron Firestone has been an officer of the planning group for several years. Sam Douglass is this year’s president. The group meets frequently at the Alpha Rho Chi house to set up designs and procedures for future stunts.

Ron Firestone displays the eight cards and the cape used by just one "Block O" member at a single football game. A year of planning goes into these stunts which take only a few seconds to perform.

Ray Yanscik, executive administrator, spots mistakes and sends in corrections over his short wave radio equipment. Last year he was in charge of attendance. Here he checks his set prior to the game.

Dark and light cards held by 736 "Block O" students in Ohio Stadium form a letter "P" (for Purdue) on a white background. Students pay one dollar per season extra for seatings in this section. None of this accrues to our Chapter!
A NEW KIND OF NATIONAL DIRECTORY

The Grand Council has discontinued the publication and selling of the National Directory. Instead, the Directory will be published as a part of The Archi and will come to you as an insert. Each issue of The Archi will contain the names and addresses of alumni of the one individual chapter until all chapters are covered. Then the process will start over again. We hope this innovation will appeal to you.

NEW RUSHING MANUAL

A national rushing manual for the use of all chapters is now in the making. Sponsored by Anthemios Chapter, it will be published and distributed by the Grand Council shortly. Rushing, particularly quality rushing, is probably the most important feature of our Fraternity's operations today. These remarks are addressed to alumni as well as to actives.

PLEDGE MANUAL

Next to rushing, the care and propagation of pledges is of prime importance. A revision of the present Archi Pledge booklet has been sponsored by Demetrios Chapter and it is planned that this revised manual will be available for use in the near future. Pledges, take care!
The Worthy Grand Architect Says...

The Fraternity has 2500 members today. This is a respectable number and not one to be taken lightly. Nevertheless it is not enough — not enough, for example, to support a National Office, which is something the Fraternity is greatly in need of. Therefore, national expansion is extremely important as well as the initiation of more men into our chapters. How do we accomplish this? The only way I know is for the 2500 members we now have to forget their drawing boards and their income tax and their families just a little bit and renew their interest in the Fraternity to increase and improve the spirit of the brotherhood and get the things done which have to be done to make things run. One thing sure, fraternities are like anything else, they just don’t run themselves. Reet?

ROBERT F. CALROW, W.G.A.

DON MAYNE NEW GRAND LECTURER

Donald M. Mayne, Anthemios '33, has been appointed Grand Lecturer by W.G.A. Bob Calrow. While at Illinois, Don was Worthy Architect of his chapter and after graduation as an Architectural Engineer he served as Treasurer of the Anthemios Alumni Association. His home is now in Dallas, Texas where he operates a national service as Marketing Consultant. In another story in this issue he is one of the leaders in the recently organized Texas Alumni Chapter. He has served for sometime as Grand Council Deputy for the state of Texas.
AN EDITORIAL

“Corporate Image”

Editorials are not a required subject in our magazine; meaning you don’t have to read this unless you want to.

Business firms talk a lot about their “corporate image,” particularly in their public relations departments.

Such a question was asked recently about Alpha Rho Chi by one of our old alumni. He wanted to know whether the fraternity still has a corporate image and, if so, what’s it like today? Is it what it used to be, he asked, or has it changed?

Who has the answer? Well, it seems to us, as we look back and we mean back, that the Alpha Rho Chi house, no matter on what campus, was always a little bit different from any other house. It seems as if there was more fun there, more originality, more unusual things to see and hear and do, more cordiality, more spirit, more brains, more life. And, of course, constant and visible reminders that this was the house for students of architecture, et cetera.

After all, architects are thinking men and Alpha Rho Chi is “the thinking man’s” fraternity, isn’t it? So why shouldn’t its corporate image reflect these things?

As my old pappy always said “You’ve either got it or you haven’t got it” — and if we’ve got it why hide it by being blasé, dignified or sophisticated? At least, that’s what the editor thinks.

The Alpha Rho Chi Medal was established by the Fraternity in 1931 to "encourage professional leadership by rewarding student accomplishment; promote the ideals of professional service by acknowledging distinctive individual contributions to school life; stimulate professional merit by commending qualities in the student not necessarily pertaining to scholarship." The medal is cast in bronze from an original design by Merrell Gage, sculptor, and is offered to each accredited school for award to a graduating senior. Recipients are named by the architecture faculty at each school.

OR many years the need for a social fraternity in the fields of Architecture and the Allied Arts had been recognized at the Pennsylvania State University. Since there was already a national organization which would meet these needs — Alpha Rho Chi — the only obstacle was that of planning and organizing on a local level.

During the Fall of 1953 the first steps were taken. On October 5, a meeting was held in room 400 of Main Engineering Building. M. Robert Des Marais, Assistant Professor of Architecture, an alumnus of the Anthemi­os Chapter, presented a letter from the national office of Alpha Rho Chi telling how a charter might be obtained.

All persons present agreed unanimously to go ahead with the organization of the social fraternity to be known temporarily as the Vitruvius Architectural So­ciet­y; the ultimate goal being national recognition and association with Alpha Rho Chi.

One of the major projects for the group was the problem of finding a house for the newly formed so­ciet­y which had been meeting in the rooms of its members. It was finally decided to rent the residence at 220 E. Foster Ave., and it was decided to run the house with all its members taking their meals out of the house.

During the Spring of 1954 plans were laid for the following fall when we would move into our new house, enjoy our many fraternity functions and operate as a unit. To undertake this challenging task reliable of­ficers were needed and we chose Lee Stauffer for Presi­dent, John Booser as Vice President and Russ Snyder Treasurer and David Gill as Secretary. The ground work for the big year ahead now was set up.

After the brief summer vacation, work was started on our new house. 220 E. Foster had a capacity to house twenty fellows which was achieved by using dormitory type sleeping facilities with four men in a study room.

We tore down the old garage in the back and added a limestone base. Party tables were made, floors were sanded, the chapter room was painted, desks refinished and beds overhauled. Some way or other we were able to finish all of this work and still attend classes even to the extent that we ranked in the top ten fraternities scholastically.

The big thrill however was still out in front. All of these every-day occurrences create some degree of excitement, but within a few weeks Vitruvius Colony would be changing its name to the Vitruvius Chapter of Alpha Rho Chi. This is what we had been striving for ever since the first meeting in Main Engineering and now a dream was going to be a reality.

The Demetrios Chapter from Ohio State was going to put us through the formalities and many alumni and national celebrities were also included in the pro­gram. Pop Ely made the trip and participated in the initiation. The weekend (March 25-27, 1955) included our first formal banquet, our first initiation and our first group church service.

The recognition of Alpha Rho Chi by the Inter-Fra­ternity Council, the all night drafting sessions in the chapter room, the study sessions by many of the broth­ers all made for stronger ties.

And so the foundation for the fraternity was now completed. Looking back we see a group of individuals brought together as a single unit. This is only the begin­ning however as we hope and plan to be one of the outstanding fraternities at the Pennsylvania State Universi­ty within the near future.

In 1958 a New House and a New Address

Two weeks before school started in the fall of 1958, twenty-one brothers and pledges of Vitruvius Chapter
When for the first time a member of the Vitruvius Colony answered the phone—
“Good Evening — Alpha Rho Chi,” a dream became a reality

by Andy Yanoviak

returned to State College from their summer vacation. Immediately work was begun on moving to the new house.

Brothers Moss and Yanoviak used their pick-up trucks to transport the Chapter's possessions from 220 E. Foster to 246 S. Pugh (about one block away) and to haul junk out of the basement and yard.

Most of the improvement was made to the basement which was to serve as our Chapter Room and Party Room. By the end of the week the basement floor had been poured with brothers Barton and Gripp doing the concrete finishing. Steps of concrete to the main entrance were made.

The following week brothers Shaw, Williams and Litzenger started working on sealing and painting the basement walls. Brothers Sanderson, Dixner and Sapack were busy sanding and refinishing all of the floors downstairs. Brother Marko, the interior designer, painted the walls and ceilings and hung drapes. He was assisted in this large task by brothers Welch, McCahan, Fertig, Francis and Andrews. The landscaping was handled mainly by brothers Budz, Hershey and Filip with everyone pitching in to spread the twenty-odd loads of fill for the lawn. This display of inner drive was impressive and remarkable. Prof. Des Marais acted as supervisor on this "project."

Another Dream Come True

And so another milestone had been added to Alpha Rho Chi's history. It was a dream come true and now our big surge forward has been the addition of dining facilities. This project was aided by our new Alumni Association.

Rushing activities will constitute our main effort this year. The first open house was very successful attracting 26 men in architecture and we are counting on our table at the House to aid our rushing program. We plan to start work shortly on a brochure which will illustrate and depict the Chapter House and our activities.

So we've come a long way since we first answered the phone — "Good evening — Alpha Rho Chi."

MURRAY RE-ELECTED WORTHY GRAND ESTIMATOR

Dick Murray (Richard E. Murray, Jr.), Demetrios '51, was re-elected W.G.E. at the twenty-sixth National Convention of the Fraternity held at Ann Arbor recently. Needless to say, this re-election reflected the Fraternity's confidence in Brother Murray's operations in the finance department and was an expression of thanks for what he has done. Dick made a reputation for himself while an active at Ohio State as the roughest and toughest gun-slingin' Worthy Estimator which the chapter ever had.
John Liimatainen Retires as Editor of The Archi

John R. Liimatainen, Demetrios '53, Editor of The Archi since the summer of 1956, has resigned this position recognized by many of us as one of the most arduous and responsible jobs in the Fraternity. John as an undergraduate was editor of the Demetrios Crescent and associate editor of the Ohio State Engineer. He is now a member of the architectural firm of Green and Smith at Painesville, Ohio. Brother Liimatainen has brought to The Archi a freshness of typographical treatment as well as a thoroughness in reporting the many items of interest occurring in Alpha Rho Chi circles. The Fraternity is indeed grateful to John for years of interest and hard work and hopes that he will enjoy the new privilege of not having to meet a deadline. The current issue of The Archi is being prepared by an old alumnus who owns a typewriter.

DESMARAI S BECOMES WORTHY GRAND SCRIBE

At the twenty-sixth Convention M. Robert Des Marais, Professor of Architecture at Pennsylvania State University, was elected W.G.S. to succeed James T. Lendrum who had resigned earlier in the year. Brother Lendrum had until recently been in charge of the Small Homes Council at the University of Illinois where he established a national reputation by his work in this field. He is now head of the Department of Architecture at the University of Florida at Gainesville. He is a member of the Iktinos Chapter, graduating in 1930. Brother Des Marais was active in the establishment of the Vitruvius Chapter on the Penn State campus. He is a member of Anthemios Chapter, class of 1948.
October 26, 1959

Dear Brother APX:

Alpha Rho Chi is on the move in Texas. A group of Alumni met in Austin on Friday, October 16, during the TSA convention. They are enthused over the opportunities for reactivating an active Alpha Rho Chi chapter at the University of Texas, and through this action are setting the wheels into motion.

A motion presented by Bro. Chas. Millhouse, seconded by Bro. Hugh McMath, and approved by the group, established a steering committee to consist of R. H. Bowen and D. M. Mayne. This committee is to solicit the interest of alumni in the state, convene an early meeting of such alumni, and to initiate such other action as may expedite organizing a Texas Alumni Chapter.

The steering committee was also directed to request each Alpha Rho Chi member in the state to contribute $5.00 to defray the costs of organization. These receipts, along with proper expenditures, will be accounted for by the steering committee. Such accounting, together with the unexpended balance of the fund, will be turned over to the duly elected treasurer of the Texas Alumni Chapter. All such receipts will then be credited to the Texas Alumni Chapter dues account of the individual member.

This is not just another stab in the dark, but is the sincere and determined effort of interested fraternity brothers. Reports of those close to the scene on the campus indicate that the action is timely and, with alumni organization, our objective may well be achieved early in the second semester of this school year.

A "Notice of Meeting," "Proxy Form," and a "Dollars of Encouragement" form are attached for your use. Don't put them aside for later handling, but act now. We look forward to seeing you in Austin on November 14th.

Fraternally yours,

R. H. Bowen       Donald M. Mayne
Special APX Alumni Steering Committee

Note: In response to this letter, a meeting was held with six members present and seven proxies. Rain, sleet and snow (my old pappy said it never did that in Texas, Ed.) kept several members who had planned to come from being present. All were encouraged, however, by the response to the letter and business proceeded accordingly. A motion was made by Brother R. L. White, seconded by Brother K. Kamrath, and unanimously passed by the membership, that the group proceed with the formation of a Texas Alumni Chapter.
KALLIKRATES SPONSORS SOCIAL AND PROFESSIONAL EVENTS

Recent activities of Kallikrates Chapter have included both social and professional events. These included the presentation of slides taken by its several members who have traveled abroad recently, parties within the chapter and with the faculty and membership in the Virginia Fine Arts Museum from which many excellent exhibitions can be rented. The chapter hopes to create greater alumni interest so as to obtain location on which to erect a Chapter Hall.

DEMETRIOS MOVES INTO NEW HOME

Demetrios Chapter is now occupying its new home on Seventeenth Avenue in the heart of the fraternity district. The move was made as the result of efforts of the active chapter and the alumni, operating under the charter of the Demetrios Control Corporation. A drive to raise capital funds of the Control Corporation from among the alumni made the new house possible and this drive is still being carried on in order to keep the ownership of the house on a sound basis.

IKTINOS TO BUILD NEW UNIT

The Iktinos Building Association has recently completed a remodeling program at the chapter house. Among improvements made are a new paint job, removal of trees, porch repairs and rebuilding the driveway. A number of interior improvements have also been made. The new pledge class of eleven is the largest in several years. Ultimately it is planned to build an addition to the house, depending largely on the rate of growth.

ANDRONICUS STARTS BUILDING PROGRAM

Andronicus is in the first stages of a proposed large building program. An addition is planned in front of the present chapter house so that at a later date the present house can be demolished. Through the help of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in return for services rendered by the chapter a large amount of free materials and labor has been assured.

ANTHEMIOS WINS PRIZES

Last year members of Anthemios placed in all major prizes offered by the Department of Architecture at the University of Illinois. The chapter held its annual spring art show at the chapter house with 400 persons attending. The competition for best decorated room was held at the time of the art show. Anthemios chapter takes an active part in the publication of the Department of Architecture newspaper, The Ricker Reader. This departmental paper was given its name in honor of Professor Nathan Ricker, first Master Architect of Alpha Rho Chi.

MEN FOR THE AGES

Sketches of the ancient architects whose names designate our chapters. Here are the few facts known about Paeonios, Dinocrates, and Polyklitos.

Now I will proceed to the discussion of Paeonios, Dinocrates, and Polyklitos, whose names are borne by the (now inactive) chapters at Kansas State, University of Texas, and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Associate of Demetrios

Paeonios must be content with the mere mention of his name as associated with Demetrios in the completion of the Temple of Artemis at Ephesus. This temple was begun about 600 B.C. and was finished about 330 B.C. What part of the work was done by Paeonios we do not know, but, since Demetrios was by way of being a specialist in temples of Artemis, he may have been retained in an advisory capacity, while Paeonios did the hard work.

An Early Promoter

Dinocrates, of Macedonia, was an architect of the fourth century B.C. He appears under eight different names as given by Brown. This does not signify that he changed his name of necessity, or that they were aliases, but shows the slight value of a mere name when compared with deeds of greatness.

Dinocrates was the great promoter of ancient times. Provided with letters of recommendation to the principal persons of the Alexandrian court he set out from his native country with the hope of gaining favor with the monarch. The courtiers made him promises which they neglected to perform and thus prevented his access to Alexander, but only for a time. Using novel means of gaining the ruler's notice Dinocrates finally interested him in the building of a new city.

The architect was usefully employed in the building of the extensive foundations of Alexandria, and few architects have had the opportunity to direct works of greater importance.

He is believed to have rebuilt the Artemesium at Ephesus after its destruction by fire and to have erected another at Alexandria.

A Sculptor and Architect

Polyklitos lived in the last part of the fifth century B.C. He was a celebrated Greek sculptor and architect, associated with the high development of abstract proportion which characterizes Greek sculpture. He seems to have realized the athletic type, or ideal, to the entire satisfaction of the Greek world and made a figure embodying the accepted proportion, which was called the "Canon."

This canon is supposed to have been a simple figure carrying a spear (doryphorus), described by Pliny and properly represented by several replicas. The best of these was found at Pompeii and is in the museum at Naples. The most important monumental work of Polyklitos was the chryselephantine Hera at Argos, represented by the so-called Ludovisi Juno.

This installment concludes the series of sketches written by Jos. J. Patterson, past Grand Lecturer. The series was printed in THE ARCHI before the installation of Theron and Vitruvius chapters, and therefore includes no history of these men. Sketches of Theron and Vitruvius will appear in future issues, presented as part of the new Fraternity History series, as they become available.
Alpha Rho Chi is a national professional fraternity limiting its membership to students of architecture and the allied professions. Founded at the Universities of Illinois and Michigan on April 11, 1914, to organize and unite in fellowship the architectural students in the universities and colleges of America, and to combine their efforts, so as to promote the artistic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the younger members of the profession. Alpha Rho Chi was one of the founders of the Professional Interfraternity Conference, organized in 1928.
