Dedication
As everyone knows, we are approaching Alpha Rho Chi's "Diamond Jubilee," the 75th anniversary of the Fraternity. At the same time, the Archi has reached it's 73rd anniversary of publication. With this in mind, we dedicate this issue of the Archi to all brothers, past and present, as a recollection of our founding and in anticipation of the celebration when we will all meet in Chicago.

About the Cover
In tribute to the 73 years of the Archi, representative covers from years past have been reproduced to make up the cover of this issue. Number 1 is the original cover of the Archi from January 1916. Number 2 shows the typical Archi cover from 1922 to 1930. Number 3 is the cover of the 25th anniversary edition of April 1939. Numbers 4 through 6 are other interesting covers from the 1930's through the 1960's.
THE BEGINNING

from a speech by Leo M. Bauer, First WGA, November 14, 1964

This story is a commemoration of more than fifty years of life. The story had its beginning in the years 1910 and 1911, more than fifty-four years ago, twice the numbers ago as many of you are of age. It envisions two groups of young men, 16 in one, and 15 in another, both motivated by the same inspiration and desire, yet completely unknown to each other. It was the thought of each group that it expand in an endeavor to bring their ambitions and desires to a happy fruition.

These young men wished to unite in a common bond of devotion to the Arts, particularly that of Architecture, to which they had dedicated their lives. These two organizations were the Sigma Upsilon Society of the University of Michigan with sixteen members, and Arcus Club of the University of Illinois with fifteen members. Sigma Upsilon was formed in 1910 and Arcus Club was formed in 1911. Arcus Club operated somewhat secretly during the year 1912 upon the advice of one man whose name became indelibly inscribed in the annals of this chapter, and of the Fraternity. He wished that we at Illinois conduct our affairs in a quiet, dignified manner because of some opposition which had developed to all fraternities in the University Senate. It was most fortunate that Professor Provine followed the continuity of events after the graduation of the Class of 1910, for it was he who gave active guidance to all.

Dr. Nathan Clifford Ricker is the man to whom this chapter and the Fraternity owes so much. His was a distinguished personality; with a brilliant mind; and a more fatherly character never lived. He always gave of his most valuable time to those who sought his advice and counsel. He was then Professor Emeritus of Architecture, and a former Dean of the College of Engineering, of the university. He was a man of very great achievement and distinction.

After a number of satisfying conferences with Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, then Dean of Men of the University of Illinois, Dr. Ricker secured formal recognition of Arcus Club from the faculty of the university in 1913. Through Dr. Ricker's advice and with his urge to press forward, Arcus began a course of pursuit for expansion. Through the medium of correspondence, Arcus had learned of our Sigma Upsilon Society and it so developed that both were proceeding simultaneously in the same direction.

Illinois communicated with the Gargoyle Society at Cornell, and with budding societies at Harvard, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology; none seemed interested, and negotiations ended. Finally, these two ambitious societies met head-on; matters took a turn in the positive direction; both elected emissaries, Sigma Upsilon appointed D.H. Williams, Jr., and later, Chandler C. Cohagen. Arcus had elected your humble chronicler. It was he who handled the voluminous correspondence and tedious negotiation through four trying years!

Through correspondence, the delegates had charged the other to promote a spirit of good will and benevolence that if ever a meeting between them would take place, that such would redound to the credit of the men whom they represented. Each was instructed by his fellows to enter into negotiations in the spirit of compromise, so that a national organization might be formed. The members of each organization agreed that a meeting should take place and so directed their delegates. Much correspondence ensued, and tentative agenda worked out. It was determined that the meetings be held at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, beginning on Friday, April 10th, 1914.
It was Good Friday, and what a miserable day it was—fog, rain, and all sorts of foul weather, seeming to make the task more difficult, and discouraging in any viewpoint. You see, neither Cohagen nor myself had ever met, nor had we seen “snapshots” of the other. Beforehand we agreed that a proper means of identification would be a white carnation that each would wear. We had registered separately, and been assigned to our respective rooms. Prior we agreed to meet at the registration desk for assignment to a work room. I remember it so well—it was Room No. 834. I cannot picture to you adequately the first moments of meeting. Here were two college students who suddenly found themselves in the role of important men, at least they thought so, and each would perhaps connive to outdo the other. Alertness was the rule, reminding me of the story of the boy who had kicked his small sister in the stomach, because she turned around too fast.

Each delegate had come with rather heavily laden briefcases, which it was supposed contained indigestible secrets. Each stated that he had come to determine whether or not there was a real need for an architectural fraternity, whether the type of men would be desirous, with a feeling of esprit de corps proper in the ensemble of aspiring architects.

The first item of business on the agenda was the matter of a constitution and by-laws. Each delegate had come with a rough draft of ideas of his respective organization. They were in part taken from the rules of the American Institute of Architects, The Knights of Columbus, The Fraternal Order of Elks, and The Fraternal Order of Odd Fellows. The proposed rough drafts were completed the following day for submission to the respective chapters.

A matter of great importance and interest awaited us in the discussions on the choice of a name. Dr. Ricker suggested that I should propose at Chicago the name of the Fraternity as Alpha Rho Chi, which had already been approved by the men of Arcus. The first three letters of Architecture or Architect would be transposed to the corresponding Greek letters “Alpha, Rho, Chi.” An explanation to Cohagen caused him to grasp for the name, and he believed that no name could be more appropriate. The two delegates decreed that Alpha Rho Chi should be the name of the Fraternity on April 11th, 1914.

Dr. Ricker suggested that if national status were attained there would be the matter of names for the various units or chapters. He believed that it would be most appropriate to choose such names from a list of Master Architects of the Ages with extant great monuments: such as Anthemios, Architect of Sans Sophia; Iktinos as Architect of the Parthenon; Demetrios as Architect of the Temple of Zeus. The new chapters would choose a name selected from a master list to be approved with the forming of a national organization. Thereupon abiding by the wishes of Arcus men, they chose the name of the chapter as “Anthemios” and Cohagen chose the “Iktinos” as the chapter name to replace Sigma Upsilon.

Then came the division of responsibilities. Iktinos would select the flower, the motto, and song, and the ritual. After much research and work, these resolved themselves into the white rose as the official flower; the official song with lyrics by Professor Arthur Cross of the University of Michigan, music from the German composition “How Can I Leave Thee,” and the ritual by Messrs. Cohagen, McConkey and D.H. Williams, Jr. Anthemios would design all jewelry, the charter, and the membership certificate. All such were executed. I believe the badge remains intact, but the crest and coat of arms have been changed. All were completed before the beginning of World War I on September 1st, 1914.

We concluded our negotiating and discussions on the afternoon of April 12th, Easter Sunday, believing that our mission had been accomplished. In our leave-taking we pledged each other not to divulge the results of our negotiations until the next regular chapter meeting.

The fraternity was announced in the Daily Illini on April 16th, 1914. Through further negotiations between the chapters, the Grand Council was created, and its initial members were Cohagen as WGS, McConkey as WGE, and Bauer as WGA. Professor Allen Holmes Kimball was the first G.L. Dr. Nathan Clifford Ricker was named as the first Master Architect by the Anthemos Chapter with great and popular approval.

“A MEETING”

To all members of the Fraternity,

As brothers who have gone forth from their Alma Mater, from the parental roofs of their chapter houses, as brothers who now constitute the undergraduate members of the chapters of Alpha Rho Chi, I greet you most heartily.

Your membership in our Fraternity means much to her. To the undergraduate members, the sentiments which the Alumni express in their various communications and visits to the chapter houses are as the words of the oracle, and you can impress upon them the fraternal spirit as can no other force.

The greatness of our Fraternity must not consist in the abundance of things it possesses or achieves, and yet I rejoice in my belief that I extend you the greetings of a fraternity that is destined to be great, no less in the things of spirit than in the material equipment and material achievement.

In the intimate fellowship that there exists among you and your fraternity brethren, give some place to a heart to heart consideration of the real issues of life. Do not chill the ardor of the man whose ideals are high. Let your larger outlook upon life mean to every friend, every brother, a broadening vision and a more earnest devotion to those ends of life that can be counted as truly worth seeking.

Each chapter desires the intimate association of the other; each brother should desire the intimate association of every other brother. If, in your belief you have discovered a way in which Alpha Rho Chi can better serve you, let it be your duty to so impart that discovery to the Fraternity. With the helpful criticism of its members, our Fraternity is bound to prosper, to take its place among the greatest in the Nation. Certainly our grand and gifted profession of Architecture should inspire us to excel in all of our undertakings.

May this message convey to you the utmost good greetings from your Grand Council, and the intent of these wishes be construed as those of a true, a genuine brother in Alpha Rho Chi.

Most Fraternally yours in F.A.et A.,
Leo M. Bauer

THE CHAPTERS

by Chuck Nickel, Worthy Grand Scribe

The first goal of the young Fraternity was to expand to become a truly national fraternity for students of architecture and the allied arts. Although several petitions were reviewed at the first convention, the only one approved for consideration was submitted by the Tau Epsilon Chi Society of Ohio State University, which was installed as the Demetrios Chapter on April 17, 1915. However, because the University and faculty would not recognize the new Fraternity, its charter was temporarily withdrawn until all conditions were met and a new charter was issued on February 25, 1916. At the second convention, ten members of the Cyma Club of the University of Minnesota formed the Mnesicles Club to petition Alpha Rho Chi for membership in a national architecture fraternity. The convention approved the petition after rigorous examination of their representative and the Mnesicles Chapter was installed on October 10, 1916. Correspondence was maintained with several other architectural societies but with the onset of World War I, the majority of the Brothers entered the service and the initial chapters stood at four.

When University life returned to normal, the Seventh National Convention was held in January 1922, during which two Virginians were initiated prior to the formal establishment of the Kallikrates Chapter at the University of Virginia on February 15, 1922. That same year, the Andronicus Chapter was installed on March 22, with eleven charter members at the University of Southern California.

Expansion continued at a rapid pace with the addition of the Alpha Chi local fraternity at Kansas State to form the Paeonios Chapter on February 10, 1923. Ten members of the Delta Club at the University of Texas were initiated on April 19, 1924 to form the Dinocrates Chapter. Polyklitos Chapter at Carnegie Tech (Carnegie-Mellon University) was established on May 24, 1924 and, with the addition of the Heron Chapter at Oklahoma A&M (Oklahoma State University) on May 23, 1926, the Fraternity stood at ten active chapters and was truly national in scope.

Although petitions and expressions of interest to form new chapters were pursued, no new chapters were installed for several years. The Depression and World War II affected the strength of the local chapters and several failed to survive. Only six chapters returned—Anthemios, Iktinos, Demetrios, Mnesicles, Andronicus and Kallikrates—with strong alumni support and renewed membership.

In 1954, the Vitruvius Colony was established to develop expansion procedures and, after a period of examination, it was installed as a chapter on February 26, 1955 at Pennsylvania State University. Next to be installed was a very active group from Arizona State University to found the Satyros Chapter on May 13, 1962. Two surprised representatives from Virginia Polytechnic Institute were initiated at the 31st National Convention to assist with the installation of the Meletagenes Chapter on March 23, 1969. The addition of the Xenocrates Chapter at
The Anthemios Chapter in 1916 at the Interscholastic Circus. This float was called, "The Birth of a Circus."

The University of Texas at Arlington on September 13, 1970 returned Alpha Rho Chi to its former high point of ten active chapters.

During the early '70s, with the unpopularity of the Vietnam War and anything relating to the Establishment, the Fraternity membership dropped to another low point with more chapters, including Iktinos, becoming inactive. However, the Fraternity did not stand still with the installation of the Cleisthenes Chapter at the University of Houston on March 11, 1972.

The beginning of the '80s saw college fraternities become a rising trend, and Alpha Rho Chi followed with four new colonies. In June 1980, the vigorous Daedalus Chapter was founded at the California Polytechnic State University to become our second West Coast chapter. After a freezing initiation night at the Anthemios Chapter house without heat, the Daphnis Chapter, University of Arkansas, was installed on November 23, 1980. Heracleides Chapter, University of Oklahoma, was installed with a down-home, Texas-style barbecue lawn party at Xenocles on September 6, 1981. After assembling the required ten members for initiation, the Rhoecus Chapter, University of Kansas, was installed on April 8, 1984.

In what was probably the longest road trip ever taken by an initiation class, the Apollodorus Colony traveled from the University of Florida to VPI for initiation and was officially installed as a chapter on April 10, 1986. With the re-installation of the Iktinos Chapter, Alpha Rho Chi has come full circle and currently stands at 13 active chapters and 7 inactive chapters, with hopes for further growth and expansion in the future.

42nd CONVENTION SET FOR TAKEOFF

A Summary of Convention Activities

With mere months remaining in preparation for the 75th anniversary of Alpha Rho Chi Fraternity, the convention committee has been feverishly securing final accommodations for the 42nd National Convention.

Delegates, as well as invited and honored guests, will join together in fraternal fellowship and professional education when they arrive in Chicago on Wednesday, March 29, 1989. Co-host chapter members from Anthemios and Iktinos welcome the delegates that evening with a wine and cheese reception and buffet dinner, with dancing entertainment to follow.

Thursday morning, the business session will be called to order at 9:00 a.m. following a continental breakfast and examination of credentials. The convention will recess for lunch and will reconvene afterward to address all items of remaining business. Gallery space is available for non-delegate members and all actives and alumni are encouraged to attend. All business is scheduled to conclude Thursday evening—there will be no further business conducted over the remainder of the convention.

Friday has been reserved for the purpose of professional programming with a continental breakfast leading into a three-phase presentation format. Three concurrent presentations will focus on general interests in architectural practice, the specific aspects of daily practical experience, and continuing architectural education. A panel discussion session will follow each of the three series of presentations and are designed to draw the individual viewpoints together and elicit responses from those members and the general public in attendance. Lunch will be provided and an off-site dinner with comment by one of the foremost names in architectural public relations is included.

On Saturday, Alpha Rho Chi conventioneers head for the streets of Chicago and the outlying suburbs, following breakfast, for a day of excursions to the various architectural features captured by the city’s skyline and projects undertaken by some of the prominent architects of the past. In the morning, we will tour the downtown loop area by bus, stopping also at Frank Lloyd Wright's Robie House to view the interiors of one of Chicago’s most noted residences. This tour concludes at the Art Institute for lunch and the opportunity to observe the new wing addition, expected to be open to the public at that time. After lunch, delegates and attendees will proceed to Oak Park for the afternoon, viewing Wright's Home and Studio, Unity Temple, and the prestigious Historical District, strictly maintained in architectural character and detailing from the turn of the century.

As conventioneers walk the streets of Oak Park, host chapter members will be conducting the initiation ritual of the Dean of the School of Architecture at the University of Michigan. The evening concludes with the banquet, in which all previous officers of the Grand Council are to be honored in their attendance.

Sunday morning, the 75th anniversary celebration activities conclude with a champagne brunch and departure of all attendees.

The chapter and alumni association members of Anthemios and Iktinos look forward to seeing you in Chicago to commemorate our 75 years of fraternal growth and advancement as a professional organization for architecture and the allied arts.
COMMENTS ON 75 YEARS OF ALPHA RHO CHI

by John R. Ross, WGA

Finally, after meeting, talking, debating and planning, we are at the threshold of the celebration of seventy-five years of Alpha Rho Chi's history.

As an individual member, it is awesome for me to reflect that I have been privileged to share in almost two-thirds of those years and even more impressive to realize that I am preceded by fellow brothers who were active in the twenties.

In preparing for my comments, I looked through Archis and Alpha Rho Chi Letters dating from 1981, my first year as WGA. What were the themes of my past written remarks? It appears that I had a 'stick and carrot' approach, alternately exhorting the Alumni and Actives to contribute and participate and thanking all those who have indeed helped to keep the Fraternity vital and growing.

In just these past few years, a complete fraternity generation has passed. Hundreds of eager young high school graduates have been approached, pledged, initiated and then studied, participated and graduated to active alumni members joining thousands, yes thousands, of fellow brothers in our Fraternity.

We can really feel with pride that more than fifteen generations have passed since our founding brothers, Leo M. Bauer and Chandler C. Colhagen with the Anthemios and Iktninos chapters, conceived and constructed the framework, from the badge to the ritual, of what we proudly cherish and adhere to today.

It is with humble and deep respect that I thank them for our legacy.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Alpha Rho Chi Chapters and Components
FROM: Convention Planning Committee

We are pleased to announce the dates of the 42nd National Convention of Alpha Rho Chi. They are: March 29, 1989 through April 2, 1989. This convention will be a celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the founding of Alpha Rho Chi. This memorandum, as required by the constitution and bylaws, constitutes the formal announcement of the convention and the business meeting.

The committee is enthusiastic about the planned location and the scheduled events. All members should make arrangements to attend the convention.

In order to accomplish the rigorous proposed schedule, the following list of items and dates must be completed by each chapter and alumni association. We suggest that each chapter appoint someone to oversee the completion of the list. If no one is appointed, it will be the responsibility of the president to fulfill these duties.

1) All proposed motions must be submitted on the form that is sent to each component.
2) All proposed amendments to the constitution and by-laws must be submitted on the form that is sent to each component. (The convention committee feels that this will encourage well-thought-out proposals and discourage the opposite. The delegate package will be sent out before the convention to allow for careful consideration of the motions.)
3) A list of current membership must be submitted.
4) A request and requisition for additional travel funds must be petitioned through the office of the Worthy Grand Estimator. Please contact him by telephone or written correspondence.
5) Submit the lodging form.
6) Return the meal reservation form.
7) Return suggestions for the site selection of next year's convention, as well as proposals for the betterment of the Fraternity.
8) Complete the chapter and alumni report form for your component. (The Grand Council must also submit a report.)

In addition to the above list, the chapter display must be completed and brought to the convention in March. If your board is not brought, your excel will be blank. Any historical memorabilia should also be brought to the convention. And please remember to bring your credentials.

If you have any questions, please contact Kendall Kirkpatrick (Anthemios) or Shannon Lowe (Iktninos). All submittals should be sent to Iktninos, care of Shannon Lowe.

Getting Involved:

THE GRAND COUNCIL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

We know you're out there. Alumni and actives who would like to help out the Fraternity in some way without making a huge time commitment. Or maybe you'd like to get your feet wet in some way with National to find out what it's like and to meet more of the brothers.

This is your lucky day! Because the Grand Council Advisory Committee is now forming. Input and assistance is greatly needed.

The committee will provide the Grand Council, through the Worthy Grand Architect, a pool of people who can assist in managing the activities of Alpha Rho Chi as a truly National Fraternity.

In the past, the National operations of Alpha Rho Chi were conducted by a select few individuals. This was a practical way of operating the Fraternity at the time, when our numbers were relatively small. Since the Fraternity has expanded, however, it is now virtually impossible for the Grand Council, or any individual, to get to know all of the people who are influential in the day to day activities of the active chapters and alumni associations. At the last convention, the delegates addressed this concern by approving the formation of this advisory committee so we can expand the participation of all in the activities of Alpha Rho Chi.

Committee operations will be at the discretion of the W.G.A. and the Grand Council, which will delegate and assign specific tasks to the committee members on a voluntary basis. The committee itself will never meet as a whole.

The committee members can be used as a primary sounding board for new operational concepts and suggestions from the chapters on the convention or the National Fraternity. They can also serve as a ready reserve from which National Deputies, Alumni Association Officers and Grand Council members may be drawn.

By selecting this committee, we feel that more people can profit from the experiences and associations developed during Alpha Rho Chi activities and, therefore, help Alpha Rho Chi to become a truly National Fraternity.

If you feel that you would like to serve on this committee, please contact your W.A. or Alumni Association President.

—John B. Filip, G.A.
1988 ALPHA RHO CHI MEDAL RECIPIENTS

Every year, the Alpha Rho Chi Medal is awarded to that graduating senior of each school of architecture who has shown an ability for leadership, performed willing service for the school or department, and gives promise of real professional merit through his or her attitude and personality.

Alpha Rho Chi maintains that the profession needs trained leaders and unselfish workers as much as it needs brilliant designers. High scholastic attainment is not always an indication of professional merit. High ideals and professional aspirations, public service, and leadership are all worthy of reward. In recognizing these facts, Alpha Rho Chi has created an award which is not duplicated by any other national award in the field of architecture. The Fraternity offers the Medal as its contribution to the professions of Education and Architecture.

In Future Issues...
We would like to cover the following subjects in future issues of the Archi and the Alpha Rho Chi Letter. Other suggestions are more than welcome.
- 42nd convention report and wrap-up
- Profiles of incoming and outgoing Grand Council
- Articles of professional interest
- Chapter News!

From The Editor
This has been the first Archi produced by the editorial team of Mary Sudul (Vitruvius '87) and Suzanne Bainbridge (Xenocles '83). We hope you enjoy it and we look forward to providing you with top-flight architectural journalism in the future.

Something to look forward to: Due to my professional position, future issues of Alpha Rho Chi publications will be produced using state-of-the-art computer publishing technology. We will be using Microsoft Word word processing and Xerox Ventura Publisher publishing software to give us greater flexibility with a greater choice of type faces and sizes; shorter production times; cleaner graphics; greater accuracy, since last-minute changes can be easily input; and lower costs. This is all as soon as I learn how to use it, of course!

Suzanne and I would also like to make one request. While we will be doing our best to cover the National Convention in March, we won't be able to catch everything. After the convention is over, if you find that you have any photos or quotes that are just begging to be published, please let us know! Send prints or negatives (color is okay) and explanations of the subjects and we'll do the rest! We all know that pictures of the brothers are the best part of the Archi!

Chicago or Bust!

Alpha Rho Chi is a national professional fraternity limiting its membership to students of architecture and the allied arts. It was founded at the Universities of Illinois and Michigan on April 11, 1914, to organize and unite in fellowship the architectural students in the universities and colleges of America and to combine their efforts so as to promote the artistic, scientific and practical efficiency of the younger members of the profession. Alpha Rho Chi is one of thirty-four national and international fraternities which consolidated into the Professional Fraternity Association (PFA) in Indianapolis, Indiana in 1977.
